DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 21-23, drawn to a nucleic acid array containing at least two nucleic acids selected from SEQ ID NOs 1-50, classified in class 536, subclass 23.5.
- II. Claims 33-34, and 36 drawn to antibody array containing antibodies that bind at least two proteins from SEQ ID NOs 51-100, classified in class 530, subclass 387.1.
- III. Claims 1-6, 10, drawn to method of diagnosing endometrial cancer, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- IV. Claims 41-42, drawn to methods of screening pharmacological compounds, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
- V. Claims 11-13, drawn to method for selecting treatment using unspecified differentially expressed markers, classified in class 435, subclass 6 or other class and subclass depending on what is being evaluated.
- VI. Claims 16-18, drawn to method for evaluating treatment using unspecified differentially expressed markers, classified in class 435, subclass 6 or other class and subclass depending on what is being evaluated.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are different products.

Inventions V and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are different methods for different effects.

Inventions I and III, IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different processes of groups III or IV.

Inventions I and V, VI are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different processes of groups V or VI.

These inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification. The search required for each of the above inventions is not coextensive with regard to the literature and the sequence searches. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of any one group would not necessarily anticipate or make obvious the any of the other groups. For these reasons, restriction for examination purposes is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention.

If applicant elects group I, II, III, or IV, requiring combinations of individual nucleotide sequences, applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single combination of two sequences for examination. If neither individual sequence is found to be allowable, the examiner will consider whether the combination of sequences taken as a whole renders the claims allowable. The identification of any allowable sequence(s) will cause all combinations containing the allowed sequences(s) to be allowed.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
